Santa Clara 'Appalled'

Approval of Federal Grant Jobs at Stake

By FRANK LA PIERRE

Santa Clara's Board of Supervisors said this week they were "appalled" by the Association of Bay Area Government's threats to penalize Daly City for withdrawing from that organization.

On March 16, Daly City formally withdrew from ABAG in protest to that organization's efforts at reconstitution into a regional form of government.

The executive director of ABAG immediately issued a warning that Daly City would be penalized for their action.

How could the nine-county, 80-city organization strike back at Daly City?

"By refusing to give us their stamp of approval on federal grant projects," D. C. councilman Frank Paccelli explained.

Once ABAG's threats directed at Daly City leaked out, the Santa Clara supervisors issued a joint letter condemning ABAG's stand on the matter and sent copies to federal, state and the nine counties belonging to ABAG.

"This board of supervisors is appalled by such an attitude and particularly since there is evidence this position has strong support from the federal government," the supervisors said in a March 22 letter.

The letter went on: "The ABAG was created in 1961 as a sounding board of areawide elected representatives to achieve a co-ordinated approach in meeting areawide problems.

"It has drawn its strength from agreements executed by Bay Area cities and counties," the letter stated.

The supervisors said ABAG was "no longer satisfied with this important role" and now was strenuously campaigning to "drastically change its character into a tax-supported governmental structure with power to issue bonds and to exercise the right of eminent domain."

To date, several other Bay Area cities and counties have found this proposal to be repugnant, however, Daly City is the first to actually voice its opposition and to formally resign from ABAG.

Because Daly City was "reflecting the wishes of the citizenry they represent" the Santa Clara supervisors felt that city should not be penalized by ABAG.

"Many jurisdictions now within ABAG, including Santa Clara County, believe that ABAG does not need governmental structure status to continue its important function as a regional planning agency for the Bay Region," the supervisors' letter pointed out.

The supervisors urged support in its move to insure that Daly City, along with other cities that may choose to withdraw from ABAG, are not penalized "through administrative decree from Washington (D.C.)."

Church Robbed At Easter

An irreverent burglar stole $250 from St. Peter's Catholic Church in Pacifica Easter Sunday.

Two other churches in the community, St. Edmund's at 1500 Perez and the First Baptist at 1450 Perez also were entered, but did not lose anything.

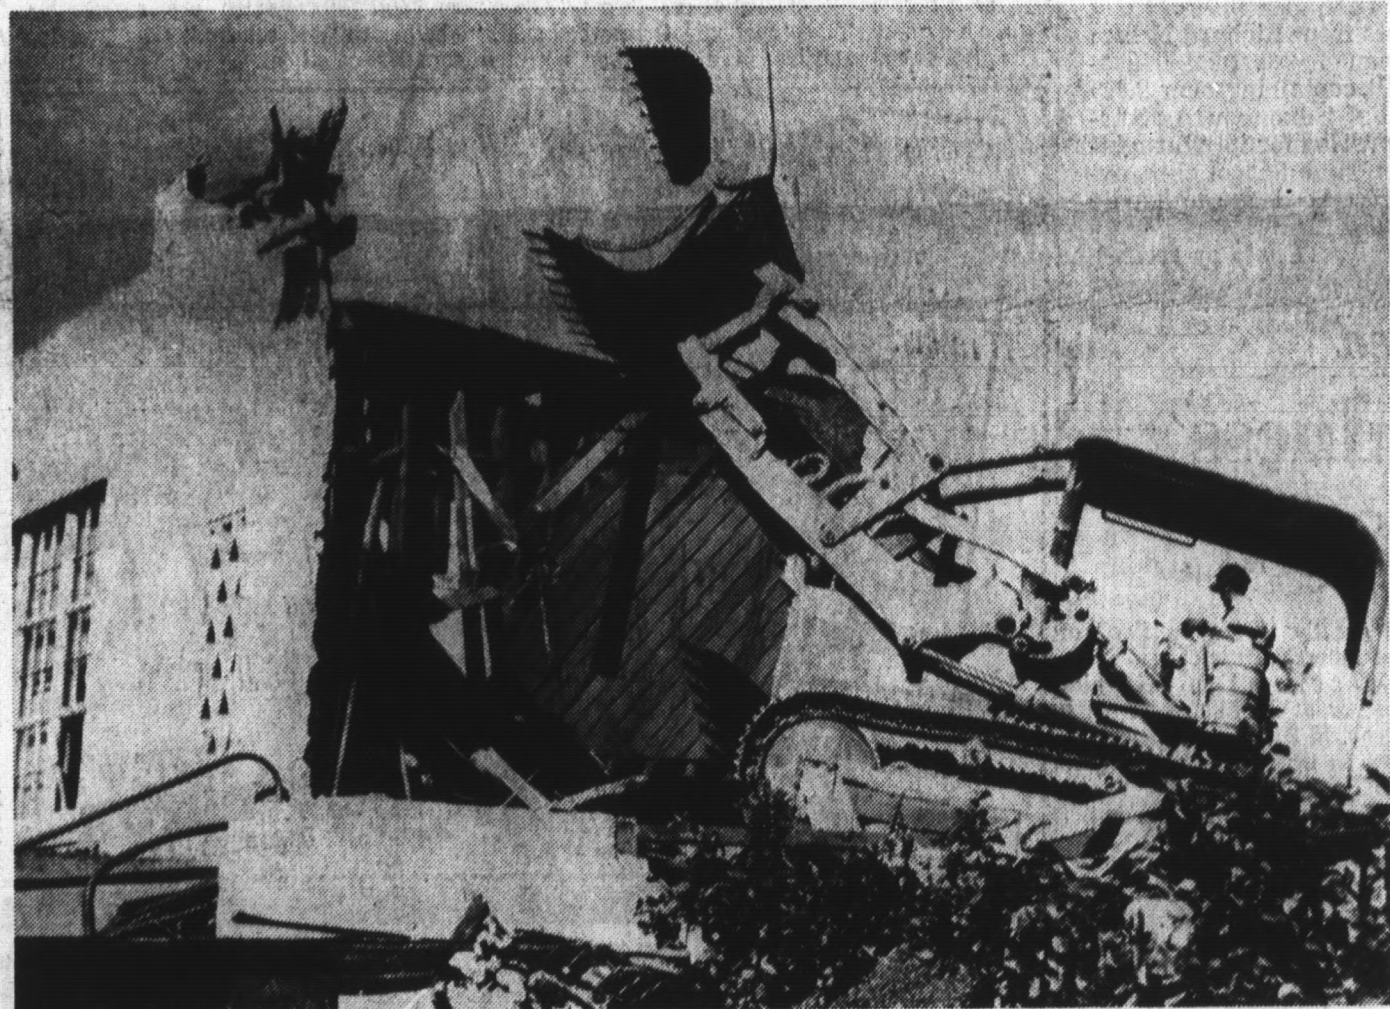

Father Edward S. McMonagle said the Catholic church at 700 Oddstad Way was broken into between 6 and 11 p.m.

A safe in the church office was forced open, but the pastor had taken the paper money out, leaving only coin, which the burglar did not take.

The money Father McMonagle removed from the safe and placed in a cabinet was taken.

Two Poor Boxes were taken from the church. They were found outside by a girl Monday morning and turned over to Pacifica police.

The pastor's living quarters are in the building and his belongings were rifled, but the burglar took nothing from there, the report said.

One-Quarter Financing By Federals

San Bruno councilmen awarded the contract for construction on the city's new $400,000 city hall expansion to the Cortelyou and Cole Co. of Mountain View Monday night.

The firm's bid of $370,900 was the lowest of eight entered on the project.

The city received bids on the project February 14, but awarding of the contract was postponed until this week to allow state and federal civil defense agencies time to examine the bids.

Approximately one-fourth of the cost of the new facilities will be financed by a federal civil defense grant.

In other business Monday, councilmen approved permits for fireworks sales requested by two Boy Scout troops, two church organizations, and three civic groups.

A resolution was adopted requesting an increase in federal aid to airports "to meet the growing needs of transportation."

Two copies of the resolution, requested by officials at San Francisco International Airport, were forwarded to the state's senate and congressional delegations.

Security Chief Held in Thefts

By DON GRIERSON

South San Francisco police arrested the head of internal security at the giant White Front Store on El Camino Real in connection with a series of thefts allegedly committed by employees at the supermarket.

Freeland Reynolds, head of security at the store for the past four months, surrendered himself to Dets. Billy Peterson and Jack Rhodes last Friday after the store managers signed a complaint.

Police said Reynolds conspired with five persons, including two other White Front employees, in removing more than $1,000 worth of merchandise from the store during the past two months.

The other four members of the alleged ring were arrested on Wednesday and Thursday, and have been arraigned on charges of grand theft and released on their own recognizance. Reynolds was to have been arraigned today in North County Municipal Court.

Rhodes and Peterson said the men have admitted taking two color television sets and a quantity of other merchandise from the store by placing them in trash cans and carrying them to a refuse pile at the rear. They then returned at night and retrieved the loot, police said.

The other two White Front employees involved in the alleged ring are Daniel Lee Sullivan, a warehouseman, and Leslie D. Hooten, a shoe salesman.

Charged with participating in the conspiracy and receiving stolen property are Pasquale Alberto Cosenza, and his cousin, Ronald Cosenza. All the men except Pasquale Cosenza, a Millbrae resident, reside in South San Francisco.

Vandals Free Animals From D.C. Kennels

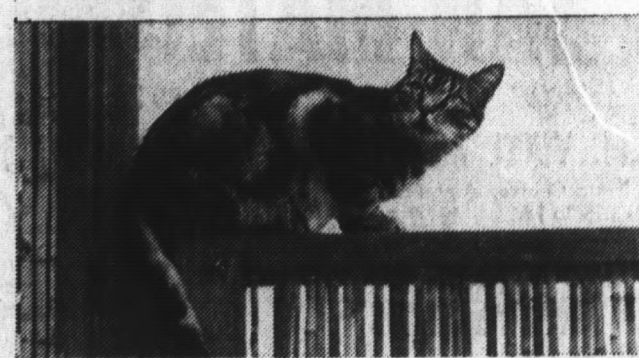

Vandals broke into a Daly City dog and cat hospital Saturday night and released scores of animals from their kennels, police reported today.

The McIntyre Dog and Cat Hospital, 1983 Junipero Serra Boulevard, was a scene of havoc Sunday morning when keepers entered the kennel area to feed the animals, officers said.

The door of every cage in the building had been opened, and dogs and cats were roaming freely within the fenced-in compound surrounding the hospital.

Only two animals, both cats, escaped from the kennel area. The dogs were unable to scale a large fence which surrounds the veterinary hospital, and were still in the area when keepers arrived.

One of the cats which escaped, a "silver tabby domestic" named Iffy, had not been located today. Its owner, Dr. Katherine Bishop, 40 Hillview Court, Daly City, is offering a reward for the return of the cat,

"dead or alive," because "I just can't rest until I find out what happened to him."

The cat is about seven years old, weighs 17 pounds and has black and gray stripes running lengthwise over its body. It is a very playful animal, and will "salute, roll over and shake hands," Dr. Bishop said.

The cat was not ill, but had been placed in the hospital's boarding kennels while the family was away for the Easter weekend.

Police said the vandalism at the kennels was apparently the

Interest In North County Center Seen

"Everything sounded very encouraging," Jefferson High School Dist. Supt. Ed Morgan said Monday of a meeting last week with county officials at which the possibility of a north county service facility near Daly City's new civic center was discussed.

Reporting on a session with Mrs. Jean Fassler, County Board of Supervisors chairman, and County Mgr. E. R. Stallings, Morgan asserted the county is "definitely interested" in a complex from which services may be rendered in the north county.

The school district, which owns four lots in the area of the new civic center, "possibly might be able to get together" with the county, perhaps the city as well, to work out temporary occupancy on a rental basis if county buildings should be constructed.

The city also owns another 16 lots, Morgan said, giving a potential base of 20 lots with which to work.

Burglar Raids Coin Machines

Burglars raided four pinball machines at Tom's Pool Hall in Pacifica early Sunday and carted away between $175 and $200.

Pacifica police said entry into the business at 486 Manor Plaza was made by breaking a rear window.

RIBBON OF NAMES — Lyal Ingersol (center), chairman of the Jefferson High School Board of Trustees in Daly City, accepts from Richard Nelson (left), chief of the State Bureau of Industrial Education, this 44-foot-long "scroll" containing over 2,000 names of California Industrial Education Association members. 'Scroll' Presented 'Thoughtfulness' Of Board Cited

A 44-foot long scroll with over 2,000 signatures of members of the California Industrial Education Association was presented Tuesday at Jefferson High School in their Westlake administrative offices Monday night.

The "scroll," as well as a framed statement of appreciation, were presented to the board by Richard S. Nelson for trustee "thoughtfulness" in "seeing the long-range values of granting Durant (Dee) Moseley a release of time" to fulfill his duties as the association's president.

Chairman Lyal Ingersol accepted for the board of trustees. Nelson is the chief of the State Bureau of Industrial Education.

The resolution of appreciation pointed out that "the value derived from his (Moseley) extensive traveling and visitations throughout the state are of tremendous importance to our organization now and will be for years to come."

It also "hoped" that his presidency similarly "has contributed greatly to the prestige" of the Jefferson District.

School Theft

South San Francisco police arrested five junior high school students Monday on charges of burglary in connection with the theft of a tape recorder and phonograph from the Buri Buri school Sunday.

Police detectives said the five boys, all 13 and 14-years-old, admitted breaking into the school and taking the equipment after authorities received a tip from an informant.

Jeff Leader Hits Cleavage In Education

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Jefferson Elementary School District Supt. Frank L. Greenwood, "sounding off" in the February issue of the California School Board magazine, has asked those in education "to put down our knives and stop trying to cut each others' throats."

Greenwood's article, appearing under the "Sounding Board" section of the monthly magazine, traces his career through 15 years in California educational leadership circles — from one school in 1951 ($4,500) to 20 schools in 1966 ($22,500).

The superintendent writes: "It is difficult to imagine anything new happening (to me), but I'm sure it will. My administration (five) have had the distinction of being the object of two Grand Jury reports resulting from nothing more serious than the allegation that the schools were preaching communist doctrine because the social studies program had a unit on the UN organization."

His work as superintendent of schools "has been both rewarding and frequently frustrating, but recently the latter seems to prevail."

What is ironic, according to Greenwood, is the fact that when the need for unity and singleness of purpose is greatest, "we find more divisiveness and greater cleavages than at any time in the history of American public school education."

"Anywhere you look you can see turmoil and controversy and while neither are strangers to the superintendent's house, the price of continuing as superintendent is becoming too high to pay, except for the dedicated crusader or the absolute fool," Greenwood said.

At the teacher level, the superintendent sees the California Teachers' Association (CTA) and the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) competing "like Hollywood starlets in a beauty contest" for teachers' votes which are needed to join one or the other organizations, according to Greenwood.

"If this were not bad enough, the politicians have learned that the political mileage in California education is limitless. Therefore, it is no problem to get some freshman or sophomore legislator to introduce a bill that will do almost anything to, or for, someone at any given time."

"The result? We have a patch quilt system of education in California that could come apart at the seams unless those of us in education put down our knives and stop trying to cut each others' throats," Greenwood said.

Greenwood said, "Whether we like it or not, the enemies of public education—and I include those in the field — are standing in the wings honing their blades and licking their chops waiting to take into their ranks the losers of every skirmish."

"The combined forces of enough losers can easily become an overwhelming force," Greenwood said.

The division and growing separation within the educational family is far more discouraging to the average superintendent than the blasts of the John Birch Society, the club of the taxpayer's association or the reckless lance of uninformed legislators "because we in the profession are responsible for this schism," Greenwood pointed out.

San Bruno Man Saves 2 In Flash Fire at SSF

A San Bruno man was credited with possibly saving the lives of two fellow workers in a flash fire which seared the interior of a South San Francisco printing plant last Thursday.

Three persons were injured in the freak fire.

Art Pauwels, 33, 88 Bayshore North Circle, San Bruno, ripped burning clothing off the two men with his bare hands, suffering burns of both hands in the process.

A fire department spokesman said Pauwels' quick action and disregard for his own personal safety in the fire apparently saved the lives of Cleve Cowley, 33, of 807 Eighth Avenue, Redwood City, and Glen Nicholson, 29, of 218 Juniper Avenue, South San Francisco, by protecting them from further burns.

The fire started at the sprawling Milprint Printing Plant on Shaw Road shortly after 10 a.m. and was extinguished almost immediately by plant personnel, according to investigators.

As the three men were attempting to transfer a highly volatile waxy substance used to coat candy wrappers from one heating container to another, some of the material was accidentally spilled onto an exposed heating element.

According to witnesses, the resulting fire was instantaneous and involved the men in what appeared to be an explosion.

Pauwels, a foreman for the company, saw the clothing start to burn on his men's back and began clawing at the clothing in a desperate attempt to put out the flames.

After extinguishing the fire on one man's body, Pauwels turned around and started tearing away pieces of burning clothing on the other with his ungloved hands.

Upon arrival of fire department rescue units, all three men were placed in protective "burn blankets" and rushed to Peninsula Hospital for treatment.

Most seriously injured of the three was Nicholson, with burns of the back and arms, hospital authorities said.

Cowley and Pauwels both suffered burns of the hands.

'Fagin' Purse Thefts

Shades of Oliver Twist! Daly City police are beginning to wonder if Fagin hasn't started a child's purse-snatching ring in the North County.

Thursday afternoon in broad daylight a gang of six children, ranging in age from 7 to 10 years old, ran up to a young girl and grabbed her purse.

The pre-teen gang fled on foot with some $1.50 in cash from their startled 11-year-old victim.

Vivian Bamberger, of 155 Wilts Street, Daly City, told police she was walking near the corner of Vista Grande and San Diego Avenues shortly after 1:30 p.m. when the boys encircled her, grabbed the purse and ran off.

Police are continuing their investigation of the incident.

Crash Injures S.S.F. Girls

Two 18-year-old South San Francisco girls were injured at early this week, when their car crashed into a utility pole at Alta Vista Drive and Alida Street near South San Francisco.

Highway patrolmen said the car, driven by Dawn Marie Hansen, South San Francisco High School student of 441 Constitution Way, was going too fast to negotiate the corner.

Miss Hansen was admitted to Peninsula Hospital for treatment of a concussion and head cuts.

Her passenger, Vickie Page, 536 Constitution Way, was released after treatment of multiple lacerations.

$300 Theft At Garage

More than $300 worth of automotive repair equipment was removed from the Ron Price Volkswagen service garage on El Camino Real in South San Francisco Thursday night, police reported.

Officers said an electric polisher, battery charger, floor jack and power wrench were taken.

At the official opening of the new Fairmont Park Recreation Center in Pacifica, Fairmont Homeowners' Association President Ed Libonati serves refreshments to some of the many participants. He is assisted by Recreation Director Ginny Silva (second from left), who is pouring coffee for Wayne Mansfield, director of the "Sweet Adelines" singing group of Pacifica who entertained the many visitors. Also participating in the flag ceremonies that opened the event are Brownie Scout Susan Schmidt Conway and Girl Scout Wendy Brown, both students of Fairmont Elementary School.

Pacifica Little League

Show Entries Asked

Entrants for the Eighth Annual Pacifica Little League competition is April 2.

To qualify, girls must be between the ages of 9 and 12, scheduled April 7 are being held in Pacifica, and sing, dance, show chair, or play a musical instrument. The Little League Princess will receive a robe, crown, flowers, and a trophy, and will participate in all Little League functions throughout the year. She will also participate in the Miss Pacifica Pageant. Information on entering the contest may be obtained from Mrs. Doreen Fasano said. The deadline for entering the competition is April 2.

ers, and a trophy, and will participate in all Little League functions throughout the year. She will also participate in the Miss Pacifica Pageant. Information on entering the contest may be obtained from Mrs. Fasano.

AS we predicted last week, if a really good basketball team would forget the stall and play its own game against UCLA the chance for an upset would be good.

University of the Pacific tried a stall for the first few minutes, fell behind 8-1, and then began playing its own game. Save for a lapse early in the contest when UCLA scored 10 straight (after which the Tigers played the Bruins virtually even-up) and Keith Swagerty's tender ankle, UCLA might have been had.

And as we wrote two weeks ago in predicting the possibility of an upset should UCLA and UOP meet in the regional finals, UOP gave Lew Alcindor just about the toughest physical game he had all year.

Considering that UCLA has roughly 10 times the enrollment as UOP the Tigers put up a marvelous scrap. If a proportionate handicap were to have been given in terms of enrollment, UOP would have won by about 3,200-84.

WE HOPE, incidentally, that the Age of Alcindor doesn't cause any rules committee to do anything so foolish as to raise the baskets. All that would do would be to penalize the little man even more. Alcindor, and even the 6-9's and 10's could still dunk a 12 or 13 foot high basket. The only answer, as we see it, would be to score anything at say, 25 feet out, as three points.

IF YOU didn't already know that basketball is an inexpensive sport to operate, just check the schools of the All-Americans: St. John's, Houston, Providence, Winston-Salem, Dayton, Western Kentucky, Louisville, Southern Illinois, Rutgers. The only "football" school which made the basketball All-Americans was, of course, UCLA.

FOLLOWING are some interesting excerpts from a letter by Daly City resident Ed Cavagnaro: "I like to remember the Olympic Club (San Francisco) winning the AAU basketball championship back in 1915, the year of the Panama Pacific International Exposition with a team composed of kids from Cogswell and Lowell High Schools. . . . 'Big John' Gilbert had the one hand push shot down pat. . . . Pete Gehardt, I believe, was a sprinter for the Olympic Club with a record of 5.2 for the 50-yard dash, was tied by Rod Hollis of Cogswell. . . . This was a world's record at the time."

"The Olympic Club coach for basketball was Eddie Penafina, 1912-20. Many basketball fans will remember him as a referee."

THE KYA One-ers, radio's leading (and only) basketball team, will be junketing to Terra Nova on April 5 for a game with the Tiger faculty. Last year, with One-der member Don Delbon playing for his faculty and scoring 32 points, Terra Nova handed KYA its first loss of the season.

OTHER LOCAL HAPPENINGS: Pacifica's Bar Bell Club went wild again last week, as all eight of its entries in the AAU California Teen-age Weightlifting Championships at the Berkeley YMCA won something.

Forget Stall

Le Pacini

The Notmeyer brothers, Mike, Churk and Richard, grabbed first and third places in the 123 pound class, and first in the 132-pound division, respectively.

Joe Brown took a fourth place in the 148 pound division and was awarded the second place trophy for being the best lifter of the entire meet. Randy Taylor placed in the 181 pound class, as did Tony Mezzanotti at the 190 level. Other top showings were by Mike Fabiano and Mike Waltsch.

If you lost their names in the plethora of small print dealing with the joint professional football draft, three San Francisco State grid-ders were picked. Defensive tackle Terry Oakes was tabbed by the Bears, middle guard Lyle Baucum by the Redskins, and offensive guard Elmer Collett has already signed a bonus contract with the 49'ers.

Former Terra Nova first sacker Marty Coil who hit .324 for the Gators as a soph last year, will continue to be eyed by the Giants this season. As a still-growing boy at 6-3, 190, and carrying a good

Warriors Triumph In Their Tournament

Defense, Thefts Win It

South San Francisco High School, riding the crest of irony and steals, reigned today as champion of its own invitational baseball tournament for the first time in history.

The Warriors won the championship of the lucky 13th annual prep classic Saturday with a 4-1 victory over Berkeley, utilizing the same tactics they had throughout the tourney—strong defense and base stealing.

In addition, Coach Bob Brain got a fine pitching performance from Bob Aurigemma, who gave up three hits, a pair of walks, and struck out four for his second tournament triumph. Aurigemma needed only 74 pitches to dispatch the Yellowjackets, as he lowered his tournament ERA to 0.50. South S.F. spotted Berkeley its sole run in the first inning, when Mike Ramirez turned a misjudged fly ball into a double and scored on a two-bagger by Dave Chew.

But the Warriors came back strong, scoring once in the first, once in the second, and fourth after two were out when Jim Evangelist walked, stole second and scored on Bruce Brian's single to left-center.

In the fifth, Aurigemma walked and happily trotted home ahead of Vince Olson, who had just slammed a 390-foot home run to put the game on ice. South S.F. got an insurance run in the sixth when Evangel-

Westlake Bowl

By JAMES GREALISH

ANDY ANDERSON easily took "blowier of the night" honors at Westlake last Wednesday. In his first season of league competition and carrying a 124 average, Andy rolled six consecutive strikes before missing, then went on to bowl a 247 game. He led the GET League for the evening with a 504 series. Leading Lady was Sally Bender with a 162 game and 477 series. Telco League bowler of the week was Roy Whetstone with a 223 game and 599 series. Jim Pollard rolled a 209 game and 560 series to lead the 835 Scratch League. In the 850 American Scratch League, Dave Yohannon rolled a 204 game and 578 series to top the league for the week. Mary Freyslaben was the leading lady with 177-480 and Bob Overman led the men with 219-571 in the Southgate Mixed Fives. Tom McCue again led the Southwest Handicap League, this time with a 212 game and 588 series. As the Spring-Summer Leagues start to take shape, more and more bowlers are signing up for "fun leagues" — an opportunity to meet new friends. A schedule of leagues is available at the desk. In the prestige ladies league of the San Francisco area, Mary Lou Billman took top honors for the week with a 208 game and 570 series. The Monday evening 850 Ladies Scratch Classic attracts more and more spectators each week. George Chamorro started with a great 265 game and followed with 171 and 183 for a big 619 series to lead the Westmoor Handicap League for the week. Margaret Zukowski topped the winners in the Monday afternoon Blue Chip Bonanza as she took home 1,310 stamps followed by Louise Preto with 540 and Donna Siacotas with 530. After bowling for over 15 years, Charles Alamshe finally topped the six hundred mark. Last Tuesday evening in the 807 Scratch League, Charles rolled games of 198-221 and 185 for a 604 series — great bowling for a man with a 159 average. He tied for second high series for the evening with John Brodie. Bob Guerra took high game and series for the week with 248 and 621.

Bunny Soderberg earned her "100 pins over average" award in the French Bros. Invitational League last Tuesday morning. Her high game in the series was 196. Betty Altamirano also rolled a high game of 196 and led the league with a 511 series. Helen Van Pelt converted the 3-7-10, Alberta Siegel the 5-10 and Ercei Kern the 4-10 split.

Twenty-two teams from Westlake Bowl have qualified for a free entry in the Sectional Roll-offs of the Northern California Bowling Proprietors Men's Handicap Tournament. Low Qualifying score for the 110 teams competing in the opening round was 3,018. The top teams in the Sectional Roll-off will qualify for the National Finals and there will be cash prizes for those top teams that, although not qualifying for the Nationals, place high in the standings. Captains of qualifying teams will be notified by mail.

Our Junior 900 team is back on the victory trail, winning two games from San Carlos Bowl in their last outing. The Westlakers shot 922 and 963 in their two victorious games, led by Craig Headman, Gary Pollack and Bob Peters. They return to competition, after an Easter lay-off, next Sunday, in a position round at San Carlos Bowl.

KSFO announcer Bob Hansen was definitely on the right frequency last Friday night as he led the 885 Scratch League with a 224 game and 599 series.

Warren Steinbeck missed a terrific triplicate in the Westlake Knolls League as he rolled two games of 209 and one of 216. However, he was very satisfied with a 634 series.

U.S. Probing The Weather

Combined forces of the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force and a number of civilian agencies have launched an attack on several Pacific islands reminiscent of the World War II Pacific campaign in its intensity.

They're really not mad at anybody though. The concerted expedition is just trying to find out how tropical storms are born. It is part of a long-range plan to learn enough about the phenomenon of the weather that accurate predictions can be made two weeks in advance anywhere in the world.

A prime site of the comprehensive scientific attack will be three of the Line Islands, near the equator and south of Hawaii. The islands lie almost directly below America's first camera-carrying Applications Technology Satellite. In stationary orbit, the satellite is turning out continuous horizon-to-horizon weather pictures.

From these photographs, a panorama of storm birth and development is possible. In co-ordinated efforts, instruments carried by satellites, planes and ships — as well as others located on the ground — will measure temperatures, wind velocity and direction, humidity content of the air at various levels in the atmosphere and other factors which may contribute to the development of storms.

Barbara Bladen

WORDS CAN'T ADEQUATELY EXPRESS MY ENTHUSIASM FOR ACT's superlative production of "Man and Superman," at the Geary Theater. When was an evening so stimulating, so marvelously exciting and so filled with the bravado and gaiety of intellect and wit.

So absolutely irresistible is the nearly four hour show with not a moment's boredom to mar the impact that it could have lasted half the time, it went so swiftly and joyously.

Ecstatic would describe my reaction to Rene Abujonais as George Bernard Shaw's self-portrait of the Superman, John "Jack" Tanner. He's cryptic and progressive, calculating when it comes to being seduced by a female captivator and thoroughly ill-mannered, all of which makes him a most interesting conversationalist and fascinating personality.

The play, as most traditionally performed, is a delightful comedy about the female pursuing the male. But when the often scissored act "Don Juan In Hell" is left in, as it is in this engrossing presentation, the play becomes philosophical and full of verbal fireworks that bombard across the stage with rapacious and fascinating assault.

WITH UNBOUNDED JOLLITY, rampant energy and high spirits, the talky play becomes a wild chase by Deann Mears through London, Richmond, the Sierra Nevada mountains of Spain and Granada, with a side excursion into Hell. She has a mating instinct that won't be averted in spite of Tanner's strong appeal for reason and the preservation of his energies as an independent thinker.

Miss Mears is all charm, all style with a femininity that sweeps all reason aside. But she's also too aggressive, not subtle enough to give the impression of a younger, more beguiling predator. We felt she was competing too strongly for attention against the more bombastic males with whom she verbally fences. An enchanting actress, she overstates the search for a father of a Superman.

The principles equally distinguish themselves as alter-egos in the "Don Juan" sequence. Abujonais debates the virtues of Heaven and Hell with reserved calculation but as a philosophic free-thinker. Ray Reinhardt as the Commodore guardian of Miss Mears, fearful of Tanner's libertine influence on her and later as a statue bored with the dullness of Heaven and fascinated by the conversationalists in Hell is particularly ingratiating.

BUT THE STAGE IS WON OVER by the magnetic forces of Ken Ruta as the renegade Mendoza and Lucifer. He embodies all the passions that Don Juan lacks; lover and gourmet, filled with grief, longing joy and anger. He deserves the many intrusions of spontaneous applause he garners during his scenes.

Paul Shenar as the jilted suitor to Miss Mears becomes cloying. He weeps and wails, snivels and cowers. No wonder she patronizes him, he's too immature and irritating a juvenile.

Director Jerome Kilty (who wrote and directed ACT's earlier "Dear Liar") knows his actors' capabilities and has drawn them out to their fullest potential. Unfortunately, Shenar should avoid these type roles if he means to develop as a repertory performer.

James Ragan is the fortunate and imposing chauffeur who drives across the stage in a meticulously restored 1910 Straker Squire, the only one in the world.

The stage spread with a green lawn carpet to which are affixed bright paper flowers. And every scene is heralded by prancing stage hands, accompanied by madrigal or march music who give a shouting signal when their chores are completed. It is through the Spanish Army's crossed rifles that the cast makes its curtain bows to the strains of the Wedding March at the end. Quite a remarkable staging and one never to be forgotten. Stuart Weitzel is responsible. Marianna Elliott's costumes also deserve a big hand.

Patrick Tovatt, with his hilarious Harvard accent as the rich, young American and Richard Glyer as his snobbish father along with the captivating Judith Mahaly (Abujonais' wife) as the mysteriously married sister Violet, are notable in a cast that bountifully provides a most thoroughly delightful evening in the theater. Shaw never had it so good.

First Graders Prove They Can Do Work on Mosaics

"I cannot think of anything that first grade children could do in mosaics," said a prominent Bay Area artist and teacher of mosaics.

But this is not the philosophy of a first grade teacher at Colma K-6 School, who overheard the remark.

Mrs. Klaisner believes her first graders can work in any art media, if it is properly adapted to the children's level.

A visit to Colma's Room 11 will verify her philosophy.

Children often are decked out in safety goggles happily nipping tile, buttering areas with mastic, placing tile and moulding and glazing clay pieces — all part of a bird bath soon to be completed.

The bowl is an old farm disc blade purchased from a farm implement store; the pedestal is a three-foot piece of cement pipe.

The children and teacher, with the help of friends and relatives, have collected tile, abalone shells, rocks, petrified wood, marbles and even glass insulators from utility poles, besides some "elegant" ladybugs, butterflies and dragonflies, which were made of clay by the children.

Since the disc was slightly scalloped around the edge it suggested a flower design, and a flower garden is incomplete without its insect friends. They are all there.

Miss Haryette Marks, a student teacher from San Francisco State College, presently is aiding Mrs. Klaisner.

Little Tracy Harry collected most of the tile being used.

The children in Room 11 of Colma K-6 hope that the parents and friends of the school will visit the Lyon's Art Show, April 6-10, to see the bird bath on display.

Downtown Mall Plan Unveiled

Frank LaPierre

SAN BRUNO'S KING — San Bruno Chamber of Commerce Manager Dick King unveiled a look-see at the proposed multi-$$$ downtown mall during a "friendly get-together" breakfast at Uncle John's Pancake House yesterday a.m. The scale-model was made by teachers and students of Crestmoor High School.

And speaking of Crestmoor... David Studebaker introduced his replacement — George Kristovich — at the early-morn meeting. Kristovich was formally with the San Mateo County School District.

KNBR'S SECRETARY of the Day Award went to Kathy Postel, secretary for James H. Trevor (of the Westlake Trevors). The efficient Kathy received a beautiful corsage, a dinner for two at the grotto and a one-day (any day) vacation.

IT LOOKS LIKE Pacifica will finally have a Boys' Club. Once the project gets underway, Peter Ferrante (of the Bing Crosby Youth Fund Ferrantes) will hand over $5,000 to be applied to the proposed building. President Ken Strom after hearing news of the donation: "We're elated!" The money comes from the recent Crosby golf tourney and rumor has it that if the rains hadn't come, the donation would have been greater. Talk about putting a damper on the story...

ANOTHER RETRACTION — Latest correction regarding that "secret meeting" centers around Jefferson Elementary Board Chairman George G. Perry who likewise claims he never attended such a meet. We stand corrected for the second time in as many weeks.

GOOD OLD DAYS — Time was when everything closed down on Good

Friday and everyone went home and prepared for church or just relaxed. Not anymore! Rather than find stores closed on Good Friday, you find them doing a brisk business. Office workers (and such) tell the boss they are going to church and end up shopping for three hours. Funny thing is store workers who get off for a couple of hours and go next door to shop. Many persons are incensed over the present-day activities on this religious holiday and are asking for stricter local curbs.

AMATEUR CROOKS WARNED — Daly City police are reasonably certain they can find the person who stole a stereo tape recorder out of a car parked at the Cow Palace last week — the thief dropped his wallet on the floor of the vehicle.

FLASHY FLASH — South San Francisco building permits in March were reported to be 100 per cent above last month, city officials happily announced (along with equally happy developers).

NO QUESTIONS ASKED — If that trunk taken from the garage of Mrs. Harriet Schacher, at 237 Mariposa Avenue, is returned. And the person who returns the contents, which include mementos of Mrs. Schacher's late husband, may NAME THEIR OWN REWARD.

The distraught woman has asked the "finder" of the trunk to keep anything of value, but to send back the movies and photographs of "my dear husband as I am heartbroken and lost without them." Anyone having information on the trunk may call Mrs. Schacher at 992-3336 or this newspaper which offers its services in locating the material. All identities will be protected.

Cross Seen For Miles Around

EASTER CROSS—A gigantic cross, some 45-feet high by 30-feet wide, was erected on the lower slopes of San Bruno Mountain behind the War Memorial Building (foreground) in Daly City to mark Easter Week. This is the second year the chamber of commerce-sponsored cross has been placed on the mountain, city electrician Henry Weisner revealed. Cost of the cross, which is made up of more than 150 bulbs, was $185. The cross was visible from as far away as San Francisco to the north and San Bruno to the south, and seemed to float in the night sky. (Post Photo by Koska)

Better Business

About That Tax: Start It Early

Lorene Beasley

A federal judge once made the following statement when asked about income tax:

"There are two systems of taxation in the United States. There is one form of taxation for the informed taxpayer and another form of taxation for the ignorant or uninformed taxpayer."

The taxpayer's actions on 365 days of the year determine the amount of tax he will pay on April 15. Taxpayer's procrastination remains a major problem.

It has been estimated that about 70 per cent of the individuals who have their returns prepared by a CPA put off seeking help until six weeks before deadline of April 15.

SOUND TAX preparation is based upon the accuracy and quality of the information upon which the tax returns are based. A complete and accurate record of deductions and income should be kept throughout the year.

Duplicate tax returns and the financial records that support them should be kept for five (5) years in detailed and documented, orderly files for ready availability in the event of examination by federal and state income tax agents.

This year the Internal Revenue Service's seven regional automatic data-processing centers will handle all individual and business returns. Commissioner Sheldon Cohen, in his annual report, said that the improved audit techniques, which rely on computers to help select returns for examination, resulted in the recommendation of additional tax and penalties of $3.1 billion. This was an increase of 15 per cent over the prior year, 1965. Computers have also been responsible for the refund of taxes — a record $7.3 billion in 1966.

INDIGNANT people call the Better Business Bureaus each tax season with complaints regarding tax consultant services. Extreme caution is recommended in the selection of a tax consultant. If an incompetent individual prepares your return and it is picked out by the computer, it will be a problem between you and the Internal Revenue Service, not the individual who prepared it.

Exploring The Sea's Mysteries

Samuel Chandler

"Wouldst thou," Longfellow's helmsman cried, "learn the secret of the sea?"

"Only those who brave its dangers comprehend its mystery."

Auguste Piccard was brave enough to explore the mysteries of the sea. Like Byron's Childe Harold he was fascinated by the "dark-heavy, boundless, endless and sublime oceans of the world."

To assist in his exploration he constructed a bathyscaphe which is a thick-walled steel sphere attached to a large hull. It works in water as a balloon works in the air. From it men can observe the sea from the depths of at least six miles down.

In 1956, Dr. Piccard wrote "Earth, Sky and Sea." In it he tells that his interest in the sea actually grew out of a passion to explore the stratosphere. His passion led him to study the use of balloons.

AS SOON as he mastered the science, he and his assistants were off to outer space. In May, 1931, Dr. Piccard and another man rose 51,961 feet; in August 1932, Mr. Piccard and another assistant reached 53,139. Later his brother Jean and Jean's wife, Jeannette — who was the pilot — reached 57,579 feet (the record is now 113,739.9 feet; held by two officers of the U.S. Navy.)

This success with balloons led Dr. Piccard to wondering if he could apply their principles to underwater exploration. After consulting certain studies that he found in the Zurich Polytechnic School, he transformed his stratospheric balloon into a submarine balloon.

With monies from the Fonds National of Belgium and with one Max Cosyns, he invented the bathyscaphe.

Dr. Piccard's "Earth, Sky and Sea" was followed in 1961 by "Seven Miles Down," by his son, Jacques Piccard and Robert S. Dietz.

modern science come through. From its pages we learn that men like Dr. Piccard and his assistants differing from the lonely backyard tinkers of a generation ago — work in teams with each member being a specialist in one of the branches of science necessary to invent a wondrous instrument like the bathyscaphe.

Nevertheless, the stories of their experiments, of their patience, their diligence, are as thrilling as the tales of Tom Swift and his kind.

This fact is illustrated in the thrilling history of men's attempt to understand the sea and use it for his own purposes. The story is related in James Dugan's book "Man Under the Sea."

Here is a thrilling saga stretching from the days of Alexander the Great to a machine called the diving bell to Dr. Piccard and thence to the inventions of Jacques-Yves Cousteau.

AS A HISTORY this book carries the reader all over the world — from the Malay Coast to Florida and California. Much of it has been assembled through interviews with scientists and undersea explorers.

One of these is George Houot who wrote a book himself about his plunge into the ocean. His book "2,000 Fathoms Down" tells of his experience in a sort of diving bell called a bathyscope — an invention accredited to another author, Otis Barton.

In "The World Beneath" Mr. Barton writes of his years of undersea exploration in Atlantic, Pacific, and Caribbean waters. Like Dr. Piccard and Mr. Houot, Mr. Barton tells how he made a record dive.

STILL another undersea explorer who has written a book is William Beebe. His "Half Mile Down" is a sort of first chapter in the story of a whole new field of underwater exploration.

IT IS a book that lets all the thrills of

Jeff Trustees Stall Gardening Decision

Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District last Tuesday delayed a decision on whether or not to contract the district's landscape and gardening maintenance.

A motion to award the contract introduced by Joseph Lewkowicz was tabled until the next board meeting after trustees Peter Galiano and Wayne Douglas requested further study before rendering a decision.

The only bid on the gardening came from Mo Masinni, owner of a South San Francisco firm which has maintained the school grounds for the past five years.

Masinni's bid of $6,360 per month is almost double the amount stipulated in his present contract, which expires June 30.

Assistant Superintendent Roger Barthuli pointed out the district has gained an additional 36 acres of grounds since Masinni's last contract was awarded, and also noted labor and material costs have risen sharply in the past five years.

4 Injured In Head-on Crash in D.C.

Four persons were hurt — one seriously — in a grinding head-on car crash on Eastmoor Avenue in Daly City last week.

The crash, which occurred shortly after 10:30 p.m. near Sullivan Avenue, was still under investigation by police today.

Authorities at Mary's Help Hospital said Helen Mannini, of 95 Bayview Street, San Francisco, was in the intensive care unit with a possible concussion of the head.

Her 56-year-old husband, Guido, was treated for facial lacerations and released.

Herbert Miller, 42, and his wife, Lois, 41, of 11 Santa Ana Avenue, Daly City, were also treated at Mary's Help for facial lacerations and bruises and released.

City Manager Is Studying Two Police Station Sites

Answer Due In 6 Weeks

City councilmen in Pacifica, attempting to select a police station site for nearly four years, set back their "urgent" decision another six weeks last Wednesday.

With two possible sites being considered, the council, after lengthy discussion, directed City Manager C. W. Masonheimer to analyze cost factors — including time and "cost recovery" potential — and return to them with an answer in "six weeks."

Masonheimer is to obtain whatever reasonable professional advice is necessary to present the council facts and figures that will lead to concrete selection of a site.

Council members were split, 3-2, over which of two sites would be more economical, both in terms of initial cost and potential value at such a time in the future that a permanent police facility could be incorporated into a new civic center.

The property gaining approval from three members of the governing body — Councilwoman Grace McCarthy, and Councilmen James Fox and Rick Wallis — is the Novi property on Palmetto Avenue.

The other site is next to the present city hall and cramped police station. It is owned by the Laguna Salada School District.

Discussion followed a report from City Manager Masonheimer, who, using past council actions and former City Manager Karl Baldwin's facts and figures as a guide, stated he thought the Novi property to be better in terms of "recovery" costs; that is, what the city could get back through increase valuation of the property at such a time the proposed temporary police facility no longer were needed.

He recommended consideration of the lease-purchase method of obtaining a permanent structure that some day might be converted for use by other municipal functions.

Councilman Rick Wallis immediately looked upon this type of project as one that might delay the police project, perhaps by 18 months.

He suggested the city again obtain the Novi property.

The time element "is important," Wallis said.

He also said future street improvements would increase the value and enhance the area.

It was argued, however, that the school site would not remove property from the tax rolls, inasmuch as it already is exempt. That side would provide additional parking for the existing city hall and some 5,000 more usable footage.

There is a 3,200 square foot concrete block structure on the property, currently being used to house district buses.

Nick Gust, recommending the school site, showed plans he had prepared at his own expense by an architect, and urged at the outset that before any site was chosen definitely similar plans be required.

Such a stipulation would be expected, it was agreed later.

Councilmen were reminded that the owner of the Novi site had made a firm offer and would deliver a completed two-story building, partitioned to municipal specifications.

Three Weeks Are 'Special'

Mayor Harland Minshew has proclaimed three special "weeks" in Pacifica.

Taking official action Wednesday, the mayor, at the request of the Misty Hills unit of the Sweet Adelines, a women's barbershop singing group, declared March 19 to 26 as "Harmony Week."

He designated April 24-28 as Public Schools Week, with the notation that the "strength of America lies in its public schools."

Minshew also proclaimed the week of April 9 as "Bicycle Safety Week."

NO SIGNS

The state will not install signs directing citizens to Mary's Help Hospital from Highway 1, the City Council learned last week.

Voluntary Anti-Litter Plan Seen in Pacifica

By WILL THOMAS

Pacifica's city manager, C. W. Masonheimer, is making plans to meet with North County publishers who distribute material in that coastal community in hopes of working out a "voluntary program" to help Pacifica keep its streets and its residents' lawns uncluttered.

Masonheimer, directed a few weeks ago to report on possible means, if any, to control distribution of certain handbills, said he preferred a voluntary approach to the problem over municipal legislation that would restrict distribution.

He was granted a month in which to achieve his goal.

There was stipulation, however, that should the city manager's efforts along these lines fail, the council would reopen its consideration of a city ordinance to govern newspaper-circular-handbill distribution.

Some residents of the community have complained to council members about receiving what they called "throwaway" publications and other advertising materials. They have claimed that certain "unwanted" material is not picked up from yards and doorsteps and ultimately are blown around the streets and lawns, or lay soaked and unopened in gutters.

On the other hand, there have been residents who have voiced just as strongly their desire to have the publications delivered to their homes, because they see a need for both the advertising and new content of all the circulated publications.

The problem, the city manager thinks, concerns the distribution of publications. He tends to place the responsibility on the distributors rather than directly on the publishers for the ultimate, so-called litter that results when residents do not pick up the items from their yards.

Councilmen passed the entire problem to Masonheimer, as one of his first major chores after assuming the city's management, when the leaders found themselves facing an old, once-nixed ordinance that was considered "confusing" and inadequate by proponent and opponent of "throwaway" material alike.

Masonheimer, reporting on his study, determined that if the city really wants such a law it could combine the most stringent sections of ordinances currently used by the cities of Millbrae and Pacific Grove.

Pacifican Wins Race, However...

Sixteen-year-old Theodore Schermerhorn won his first drag race on San Bruno Mountain March 22, but the prize wasn't exactly what he expected.

Sheriff's deputies Gene Masini and Tom O'Rourke were patrolling the lower road near Daly City at 10:30 p.m., they reported, when they heard the sound of tires spinning and soon saw the lights of two cars approaching their patrol car at a high rate of speed.

The deputies turned around and gave chase, managing to stop Schermerhorn, of 2 East Ridge Circle, Pacifica.

The youth told them that he had participated in some 15 drag races on the mountain road and that in last night's contest he reached a speed of 102 miles an hour, winning for the first time.

"Congratulations," said the deputies, handing Schermerhorn a citation to Juvenile Traffic Court for engaging in a speed contest.

Freight Car Is Derailed

A derailed freight car sheared off a 65-foot light pole at the Southern Pacific rail yard in South San Francisco Wednesday morning, narrowly missing a row of parked cars and sending sparks arcing in all directions.

The freight car jackknifed off the track shortly after 2 a.m. at the busy terminal, disrupting service on three tracks for several hours.

No one was injured in the accident, which is still under investigation by SP officials.

St. Veronica's Parish Confraternity of Christian Doctrine's High School of Religion will hold an open house on April 4 and a night of recollection on April 18, according to Principal Homer Potter Jr.

At the open house, scheduled for 7:30 p.m., parents and guests will be able to watch the seven new CCD classes at St. Veronica's School, 434 Alida Way, SSF.

Also of interest is the confirmation class. Teacher Matt Rowan is preparing 22 students for the conferring of the sacrament of confirmation by Bishop Merlin J. Refreshments will be served after the open house.

Father Bernard Cummins, superintendent of schools for the Archdiocese of San Francisco, will address the CCD students on the night of recollection, April 18 at 7 p.m. in the school hall.

Father Cummins will speak on family communications and will answer questions. He will then celebrate an evening mass at 8:30 in which the students will participate by taking the lector and commentator parts, by composing the "Prayer of the Faithful," and by having an offertory processions.

A guitar roun from Riordan High School, S.F., will accompany the mass. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Donohue and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Andreini are the teacher couples who are planning the events.

Mrs. Donohue recently sponsored 19 junior and senior girls from the High School of Religion who participated in a weekend retreat at St. Clare's Retreat House in Santa Cruz. The students included Eileen Bordallo, Ernestine Bordallo, Margaret Coyle, Salje D'Amico, Junie Gallagher, Michelle Garcia, Loretto Keller, Linda Magnetti, Valerie Mammini, Joanna Maraseo.

Sugar 'n Spice Forgetting The Eggs

Nell Norton

I know the kind of recipe you good cooks are looking for, one that combines jelly beans and hard cooked eggs. "Sorry about that." However I have been testing some interesting entree recipes and since they were so well received in my home, I'll pass them on to you good cooks.

SAUSAGE AND SAUERKRAUT

- 1 pound link sausage
- 1 can sauerkraut, No. 2 1/2-size can
- 1 medium apple
- small onion, diced
- 5 cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon caraway seed
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar

Gently cook the number two and a half-can sauerkraut for one-half hour in a covered pan with the coarsely-chopped apple, one small onion, diced, five cloves, one-half teaspoon caraway seed and the two tablespoons brown sugar.

Meanwhile, place the sausage links in skillet. Cook completely, turning to brown evenly, this takes about 15 minutes.

Place cooked sauerkraut in serving dish, top with cooked sausage. Serve with mashed potatoes, fruit salad and rye bread.

THIS NEXT recipe for Italian Stew makes a tasty and filling dinner and also a very large quantity.

This next recipe for Italian Stew is one that I've sort of added to and subtracted from, until it suited my taste. After all this is half the fun of cooking, a dash of this and bit of that makes a cook a creative artist. At least that's what I tell myself as I stir and mix in my little kitchen.

ITALIAN STEW

- 2 pounds stew meat, cut in 2-inch pieces
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 large onions, quartered
- 1 can tomato paste, 8-oz. size
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon rosemary
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 1 tablespoon seasoned salt
- 2 cans stewed tomatoes, number 303 size
- 1 cup water
- 3 medium carrots, cut into 1-inch slices
- 1/2 pound rigatoni macaroni
- 1-3 cup Parmesan cheese

In large Dutch oven heat the three-tablespoons oil, brown the two-pounds of meat well. Add the one clove of minced garlic and two large, quartered onions. Saute, stirring so the garlic and onions won't burn.

Next, add the one can of tomato paste, two tablespoons sugar, one-tablespoon flour, one-tablespoon rosemary and one-tablespoon oregano, one-tablespoon seasoned salt, two cans stewed tomatoes and one cup water. Cover and simmer for about one and one-half hours.

Next add the carrots and simmer for about 45 minutes longer or until carrots are tender. During this last cooking time prepare the half-pound of rigatoni macaroni as directed on the label. Drain it well.

When carrots are tender, stir in the drained macaroni and the one-third cup of Parmesan cheese.

This dish with French bread and a tossed green salad makes a delicious dinner.

IN MY cookbook no meal is complete without a dessert. And just recently I received a request for a Cobbler recipe. So I'll suggest this peach cobbler to top off dinner.

PEACH COBLER

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 can sliced peaches and juice, No. 2 1/2-size can
- 1 cup flour
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons oil
- 1/2 cup milk

Heat oven to 400 degrees.

Mix the one-half cup of sugar and one-tablespoon of cornstarch in saucepan. Gradually stir in the large can of sliced peaches, juice and all. Bring to a boil; boil one minute, stirring constantly. Pour into one and a half-quart baking pan and dot with butter. Sprinkle with cinnamon.

Sift together the one-cup flour, one-tablespoon sugar, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt. Stir in the three tablespoons oil and one-half cup milk. Drop by spoonfuls onto hot fruit. Bake 25 to 30 minutes until golden brown.

Serve warm.

According to Mrs. Moulton, everyone in the parish is extremely proud of this affair for the girls have done all the work and made all the necessary arrangements themselves, and as anyone who has ever worked on one of these benefits can attest, that is no mean accomplishment!

Saturday will be a busy one for everyone at Our Lady of Mercy! Saturday evening the members of the Festival Committee are presenting Surprise Supreme, a mystery evening which will begin in the parish parking lot at 7:30 p.m. and conclude when the bus returns to that same location at 1 a.m.

Only Dino Tonelli, chairman, knows all the details of the plan but dinner is included in the cost of the tickets, being sold for $25 per couple. Reservations may be made by calling PL 5-8318.

Suprise Supreme is one of the final pre-festival money raising events that festival chairman Bernard Albrecht and his committee have arranged. The Stone Age Citizen in Our Midst will be the topic to be discussed at a family night dinner at Lakeside Presbyterian Church on Friday, April 7 at 6:30 p.m.

The pitch-in-supper is open to the public and everyone interested in attending is asked to call LO 4-8833 before April 5 to make arrangements.

The ladies of the Women's Association are preparing to present Grace Bush, poet, composer, lecturer and pianist at the church on April 15 at a mother-daughter tea, according to Mrs. Troy Daniels.

The Saturday date has been selected in hopes that working mothers and those with small children will find it more convenient than an evening program, Mrs. Daniels indicated.

Members of Nu Sigma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will host the members of Xi Lambda Sigma sorority at an oriental dinner in the home of Mrs. Pat Cruz tomorrow evening.

The gathering of the sororities is the first since Sigma Nu elected new officers. 'Keep the Books Coming,' Library Friends Request

"Keep those books coming," is the call sent out this week by the Friends of the Daly City Library. They have need of many more used books and paperbacks to sell at their third annual book fair which will be held all day Saturday, April 15, in the Westlake Shopping Center Mall.

The Daly City firemen, under the direction of Chief Herbert Ritzman, are assisting in the collection by accepting donations at all branches of the Daly City Fire Department. Books may also be left in either branch of the Daly City Libraries. This is a marvelous opportunity to really clean out those book shelves and also help the community at the same time. All the proceeds will be used for the purchase of a gift for the library and in the promotion of public interest in the use of our excellent library facilities.

The books must be collected, priced and cataloged and volunteers are needed. Anyone interested in working on the fair may leave their name at the Westlake Library or call Mrs. William B. George at 756-7453.

YW Tells Calendar For April

The April calendar of events for YWCA groups includes speakers for Y-Wives meetings, bridge club sessions, a teen charm course and a YWCA tour luncheon that is open to the public.

Fun and friends are waiting for you at the hospitable Y-Wives and Bridge Clubs. Both groups met on Thursday, 10 a.m. to noon at the Westlake Community Baptist Church, Elmwood and Southgate, in Daly City. The YWCA provides nursery care during these meetings for a small fee.

Terra Nova Topics

By MARIA MONTENEGRO

Terra Novans returned to Tiger country this week refreshed by a week of Easter vacation, but all their reserves of energy will be used up soon enough, as the round of campus activities resumes.

HOPING TO raise funds for Pacifica's foreign student exchange program and possibly bringing a foreign AFS student to Pacifica next year, members of the Terra Nova and Oceana American Field Service Clubs will unit for a no-fooling April Fool's 99 cent Car Wash Saturday, at the Union 76 station, Linda Mar Boulevard and Adobe Road from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tickets can be purchased ahead of time from AFS members.

The Pacifica AFS chapter has applied to New York headquarters for a student and is searching for a family to share their home with the student.

Interested families may contact Mr. Richard Ault, 355-3695, or Mrs. Dora Payne, 355-6465.

ALSO this Saturday is the annual Girls' Athletic Association All-League Sports Day to be held all day on the TN campus. GAA members from all the high schools in the area will compete in a large variety of sports.

MEANWHILE, TIGER TALES' staffers are pasting up to meet their deadlines for the third edition of the magazine.

TN seniors will be the chosen ones at the P-TA "Spring Fling Carnival," to be held April 8. A lucky TN senior will win a trip to Disneyland. But non-seniors and just plain people will also have their chances at games, prizes, food, and fun.

Daly City Holds Action, Awaits Car Wash Ruling

The Daly City Council decided Monday to take no action on a letter received from Atty. Robert Hunter on behalf of his client — the M & R Car Wash on Sullivan Avenue — until a pending lawsuit is settled.

Hunter filed suit against the city and owners of an automatic car wash on Hillside and Market streets last November 30 in Redwood City on behalf of his clients, Ross Schendel and Mario Caprini.

The M & R Car Wash owners are asking the court for "declaratory relief" regarding former Daly City Atty. Paul Hupf's (now municipal judge) opinion concerning the newly built Hillside car wash.

Hupf informed the council that in his opinion the Hillside Car Wash — built on a C-1 zone — did not require a use permit, rather it required only a business license.

Business licenses were issued by City Manager-Finance Director Edward Frank.

In a meeting with the council during a study session last week, Hunter charged the city was hampering his client's operation because of a new ordinance which deals with coin-operated car washes.

Hunter has asked the council to amend certain sections of the ordinance, especially those pertaining to hours of operation. Presently, the ordinance stiplantes the car wash must be closed between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. daily.

"We are surrounded by a service station on one side, the Daly City scavenger office building on another, and the Pacific Telephone Company on a third side," Hunter said. "The only private citizen living adjacent to the car wash has never complained."

He said the car wash has complied with all existing city ordinances, however the latest ordinance "will cost my client a substantial amount of money."

The M & R Car Wash is built on a C-2 heavy commercial zone. Hunter pointed out the other

Lions Urge Caution Light On Crestmoor

The San Bruno Lions Club urged city councilmen to install a caution light on Crestmoor Drive near the John Muir School this week.

Club members, in a letter to the council, said further signalization is "urgently needed" in the area of the school. The latter was referred to the city's traffic safety committee for study.

car wash (on Hillside and Market Streets) was built on a C-1 zone and the law was aimed at controlling that business and should not be applied to his client.

80,000 Dogs Run Loose

San Bruno Councilmen joined Daly City officials in petitioning San Mateo County Supervisors for an increase in the annual budget of the Peninsula Humane Society Monday.

Councilmen instructed City Manager Gerard S. Vergeer to write to the board and request the budget increase after the Humane Society Supervisor William Dresser reported the organization is "handling all the business it can handle" with its present staff and equipment.

"We have only one officer for each 80,000 residents, and our seven patrol units are currently attempting to keep tabs on approximately 80,000 dogs in the county," Dresser said.

The county's population, "both human and otherwise," has increased to the point where the organization's units no longer have time to patrol, but only answer complaints and calls for assistance.

Supervisors have authorized the addition of two men and two trucks to the Humane Society's staff, and this will reduce the personnel to population ratio to one to 65,000, Dresser said.

"This will be a great help to our program, but will still not give us sufficient resources," he said.

Dresser appeared at the Monday night meeting at the council's request after several complaints about stray animals were received.

"There simply isn't sufficient coverage of our area to handle the problem," Councilman Donald Rizzo said. "Dogs are running loose all over town, and the situation is growing worse every week."

Dresser said his records show San Bruno and Daly City do have a more acute problem with unattended animals than other Peninsula cities, "probably because of a greater number of dogs."

"We spend practically all our time answering complaints about dogs barking, biting and destroying property. We must answer these complaints first, then consider patrolling the streets," he said.

The Humane Society head said he would consider one officer for each 50,000 population an "adequate" ratio.

The organization derives some revenue from dog licenses and recovery fees collected when animals are impounded, he said, but these funds are needed for the "humane part of our work, such as rescue missions and caring for sick and injured animals."

The county pays the society for its animal control activities, and cities reimburse the county.

D.C. Will Develop Street

Despite the fact that the Jefferson Elementary School District, one of the landowners, refuses to go along, the Daly City Council last night moved to effect major improvements on Florence Street. It passed four assessment district resolutions.

Without the move by the council, the $25,000 Florence Street project would be bogged down for lack of a "clear majority" because the district refuses to sign a petition asking for the street improvements.

City Attorney Albert Polonsky explained the four resolutions were necessary to begin investigation by city engineers of the assessment district.

The four resolutions passed in a resolution of preliminary determination, (b) directing preparation of engineers report, (c) intention for acquisition and construction of public improvements, and (c) appointing engineers and attorneys.

Hearing April 10

A public hearing on the matter is set for April 10.

If the school district does not formally protest the assessment district the project will proceed along the 600-foot long street.

Although most of the residents lining "Goat Hill," as one landowner dubbed it, want the assessment district established so needed improvements can be made, some 47 per cent of the adjacent land is owned by the school district (Vista Grande School).

A clear majority of landowners — at least 60 per cent — must agree to the assessment district before it can proceed.

However, in some cases the council may decide to establish the assessment district even though a higher percentage of landowners do not want its establishment.

Assessment district improvements are paid for by adjacent property owners, those who derive the most benefits from the improvements, Polonsky explained.

Bruno Won't Pay Storm Damage Bill

San Bruno councilmen denied claims from two residents seeking compensation for water damage to their homes Monday.

Claims from Leo Lugliani, Cherry Lane, and Mrs. J. R. Kruidenier, Portola Way, were referred to the city attorney.

Lugliani is seeking $418 for damages to his home and Mrs. Kruidenier $136.

The homeowners contend inadequate drainage facilities in the city caused flood waters from San Bruno Creek to back up into their houses.

Freed, Man Admits Guilt

A former South San Francisco man who last Christmas Eve won his release from state prison, where he was serving a sentence for assault with intent to commit rape, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of assault with intent to commit kidnapping. The charges carry the same penalty.

The defendant, Phillip Dean Ellis, 27, now a resident of Santa Rosa, was let out of prison after the state Supreme Court reversed his conviction. The high court ruled that the prosecutor had erred in stating that an inference of guilt could be drawn from the defendant's refusal to submit to a voice identification test. It was held that Ellis had been advised of his right to remain silent and then, however, announced that, not only would Ellis be retried, but he and his wife, Rosemary, would also be charged with perjury. It was alleged that a review of the case showed that they lied during the original trial.

Ellis was scheduled to stand trial yesterday on the two alternative charges involving an assault upon a 25-year-old airline employee. He appeared with his attorney, Michael Nave, in the courtroom of Superior Judge Louis B. Dematteis, and pleaded guilty to the assault-kidnaping charge. The assault-rape charge was dismissed on the motion of Deputy District Attorney Edward Pliska. Sentencing was scheduled for 9 a.m. April 18. At 1 p.m. on that date Ellis and his wife are scheduled to be in Municipal Court for preliminary hearing on the perjury charges.

Milk Has Few Calories

Milk is not fattening! A pint of milk a day contributes only about 317 calories to the diet. A normally active woman requires about 2,100 calories a day... and a normally active man about 2,900.

Milk is also the ideal basic food for those who wish to gain weight. The food value of every meal is raised when supplemented with whole milk.

Drinking milk regularly will also aid in losing weight. Consumed before meals, it provides needed nourishment, but somewhat dulls the appetite, thus helping those who wish to reduce.

It is a paradox — milk to gain weight; milk to lose weight — but it is true.

Creamy Stew Is Spiced With Curry

Creamy oyster stew — subtly spiced with curry — is a unique taste treat for those meatless Lenten days or any chilly day when hearty appetites call for a hot, nutritious stew.

Thanks to such ingredients as conveniently bottled lemon juice, the recipe is simple, and can go from stove to table in very short order.

2 tablespoons minced green onion
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
2 cup minced celery
1/4 cup butter
1 pint oysters
3 tablespoons flour

2 cups milk
2 cups half and half
2 teaspoons curry powder
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1-3 cup lemon juice
Saute the vegetables in butter until tender; add oysters and cook until the edges curl. Blend flour with a little milk to make a smooth paste. Blend flour mixture into oysters and add milk; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Add half and half and heat to boiling. Add seasonings and bottled lemon juice, stirring rapidly. Serve immediately. Makes about 6 cups.

Chipped Beef In Casserole

No extra dishwashing when this Chipped Beef Casserole gets tossed together... but there's plenty of good milk nutrition and flavor. In a 2 or 2 1/2 quart lightly buttered casserole combine 1 package (4 ounces) chipped beef torn into bits with 2 cups dry macaroni, 2 cans cream of mushroom soup, stirring well until soup is smooth. Add 1/2-pound sharp Cheddar cheese, grated; 1 small onion, grated, and 2 cups milk. Mix well. Bake in moderate, 350 degrees oven for 45 minutes or until macaroni is tender.

The longevity of a cow is better than that of a car! She does not go out of style nearly so fast, and her chances of survival are far greater.

Traditional Lamb With French Flair

One of the traditional meats for this season's table is lamb. Usually it's a leg of lamb which may be obtained in two forms: American style which has a somewhat square appearance since part of the shank bone is removed or French-style in which the bone is exposed so it can wear a paper frill.

They'll taste the same, of course, if they're roasted in the same way. This means placing on a rack "fell" side up and cooking without covering. The "fell" is the thin paper-like covering of the roast.

Should you want to do something a bit out of the ordinary, then baste occasionally with French dressing. As a garnish, fill canned cling peach halves with shredded coconut and clusters of jelly beans.

Leg of Lamb Francais
5 to 6 pound leg of lamb
Salt and pepper
1 bottle (8 ounces) French dressing

Do not have the fell removed from the leg of lamb. Place fell side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part of the leg, being sure the bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) basting every half hour with French dressing, until done. The meat thermometer will register 175 degrees for medium-rare; 180 degrees for well-done lamb. Allow 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 hours for roasting.

THIS LEG OF LAMB is French in two ways: The shank (leg) bone is exposed and meat tucked under so it can wear a paper frill to the table. It's also basted with French dressing while roasting.

Serve a Fancy Dessert That Will Win Compliments at the Table

Once in a while it's fun to serve a fancy dessert. Especially one that wins compliments from your guests and their requests for your recipe.

It's even more fun for you if you can prepare such a dessert ahead of time for effortless party serving.

Spectacular dessert finales for parties and festive dinners can be made easily with tangy flavored dairy sour cream. A taste inspiration in itself, today's sour cream is the perfect ingredient in a creamy pie, a smooth sauce or molded salad.

Try Creamy Fruit Mold, a do-ahead dessert planned to sweeten family menus, dress up a party or adorn a buffet table. It's a bright and zesty surprise that derives its snowy whiteness and fresh flavor from dairy sour cream. You'll taste the tang of citrus fruit in every head.

sponful, as it's made with oranges and lemon juice, as well as pineapple, cherries, coconut and almonds.

Serve this handsome mold with a shimmering Pineapple-Cherry Sauce to spoon over each serving.

Whether you call it a dessert or a fruit salad mold, you'll agree that sour cream's delicate, distinctive flavor gives it a magic lift.

If your family's partial to chocolate, please them with Chocolate Cheese Pie. It's a variation on the classic cheesecake, using cottage cheese along with cream cheese.

A flaky butter crust lines the pie plate beneath the superb cheese filling, made custardy with eggs and sugar. Sprinkle grated chocolate over and under the filling, and top it all with a layer of snowy sour cream and a handful of chocolate curls.

California Cows Tops

California cows were top producers in the United States in 1965 according to the latest figures. Giving forth with almost 500 pounds more milk per animal than the nearest contending state, Arizona, our state's bo-digious intake produces over eight times her weight in milk every year.

It is of interest to note that the average California cow weighs between 1,200 and 1,500 pounds; eats her weight in hay and grain every month and drinks upward to 20 gallons of water daily, and from this prodigious intake produces over eight times her weight in milk every year.

Spare Heat, Save Cheese

Spare the heat and save the cheese! Use low oven temperature and gentle surface heat when using cheese in recipes since cheese just needs heating, not cooking. If overcooked or cooked too rapidly, cheese becomes tough, stringy and unattractive.

A Golden Brown Omelet's Exotic

Eggs can be as everyday or as exotic as you wish to serve them. Take a delicate, golden brown omelet for instance. Season it with golden seasoning and broth and serve it topped with a sweet and sour shrimp sauce. It's exotic, international, and as delicious a dish as you could serve.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Veal round steak. Sometimes it's called veal cutlet.
Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?
A. It comes from the leg section of the calf, which is the young beef cattle. Veal round has the same muscle and bone structure as beef, but it's much smaller in size, with little or no marbling. The lean is the characteristic light pink with texture that's very fine and almost velvety.
Q. How is it prepared?
A. By braising or pan-frying. Though tender, it cannot be broiled because of a lack of fat. It also has considerable connective tissue, and the delicate flavor needs a cooking method which will develop it. Sauces which are rich and colorful are excellent with veal. For braising, a liquid such as tomato juice or sauce is excellent since it intensifies both color and flavor of the veal. For pan-frying, veal is often coated with an egg-bread crumb mixture so it does not dry out during the cooking process. Whether braised or pan-fried, the cooking of veal should be slow. The stage to which it's cooked is well-done.

Scrambled Eggs With Sauce Creole

1 small green pepper, sliced
1 small onion, sliced
1 can (4-oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 1/2-oz.) condensed tomato soup
1/4 cup water
1 teaspoon vinegar

Cook green pepper, onion, and mushrooms in butter until tender. Stir in remaining ingredients. Cook over low heat 5 minutes. Makes 2 cups sauce. Serve over scrambled eggs.

NOTE: Save extra sauce for hamburgers or fish.

Easy Cheese Souffle

1 can (11-oz.) condensed cheddar cheese soup
6 eggs, separated
Heat soup in saucepan, stirring; remove from heat. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; stir into soup. In large bowl, using clean egg beater, beat egg whites until stiff; fold soup mixture into egg whites. Pour into 1 1/2-qt. casserole. Bake in a 300-degree oven 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Serve immediately. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Quick Tips
x—Spread one cup chow mein noodles in shallow pan, sprinkle with grated parmesan cheese. Toast in hot oven.

xx—Dice ripe melon, stir into soft vanilla ice cream. Pack into tall sherbet glasses to serve.

In fact the special secret for interesting egg cookery, plain or fancy, is in the seasoning. A small foil package of golden seasoning and broth does wonders. Just sprinkle it over an egg as you fry it. Or add it to the water in which you are poaching an egg.

Like them scrambled? Try sprinkling seasoning and broth in with the milk and eggs as you prepare them for scrambling. For deviled eggs, add it to the mayonnaise and for creamed eggs, add it to the cream sauce. This perker-upper is the greatest flavor asset any egg could have.

Seasoned Omelet

2 large eggs
1 tablespoon water
1 tablespoon milk
1/2 teaspoon golden seasoning and broth
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Break eggs into a bowl. Add water, milk, seasoning and broth. Beat eggs with a fork. Put 8-inch or 9-inch omelet pan over medium heat. Melt butter in skillet, tilting pan back and forth to grease well. Pour egg mixture into pan all at once. As mixture sets on edge, lift carefully and tilt pan slightly so uncooked portion flows into skillet. When eggs are set, the top surface will be moist. Using a spatula to help and tilting pan, roll up omelet from handle and to opposite end of skillet. Slide omelet from skillet onto plate. Serve topped with sweet sour shrimp sauce. Makes 1 omelet.

Sweet-Sour Shrimp Sauce

1 large green pepper
1/4 cup vinegar
1/4 cup sugar
2-3 cup water
2 envelopes golden seasoning and broth
3/4 cup diagonally cut celery
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon water
1 teaspoon soy sauce
1 1/2 cups cooked or canned deviled shrimp

Remove stem end, membrane and seeds of green pepper. Cut into 1-inch pieces. Mix together vinegar, sugar, water, seasoning and broth, green pepper, and celery. Cover. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and cook gently for 10 minutes. Mix together cornstarch, water, soy sauce to make a thin paste. Gradually, add to hot sauce and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Add shrimp to sauce and heat thoroughly. Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce.

Seasoned Western Scrambled Eggs

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
8 eggs
1-3 cup milk
2 envelopes golden seasoning and broth

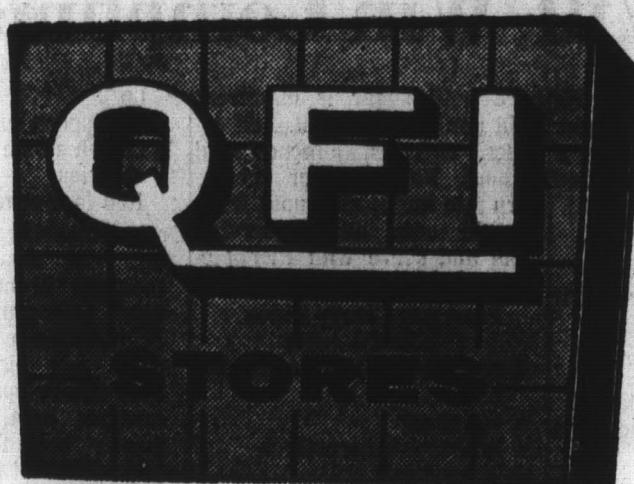

In medium size skillet, melt butter. Add onion and green pepper and cook until tender, not browned, about 5 minutes. Beat eggs in a small bowl. Add milk, and seasoning and broth. Beat with fork until well mixed, but not frothy. Place eggs in skillet. Cook over low heat, stirring in onion and green pepper, until eggs begin to set and reach desired firmness. Makes 4 servings.

Evap Makes Slaw Subtle

Good old dependable "evap" gets into the act for making a subtly garlic-flavored coleslaw that is bound to get raves from the men; women and children, too, for that matter. For each 6 to 8 servings: Measure 1/2 cup salad oil, 1/4 cup evaporated milk, 4 tablespoons wine or cider vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper into a pint-size container with tightly fitting lid. Add 1 clove garlic cut in quarters. Cover tightly, shake vigorously for about a minute and then chill thoroughly to combine flavors. Remove garlic just before pouring over shredded cabbage.

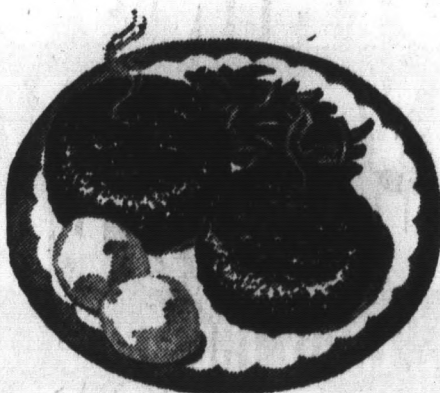

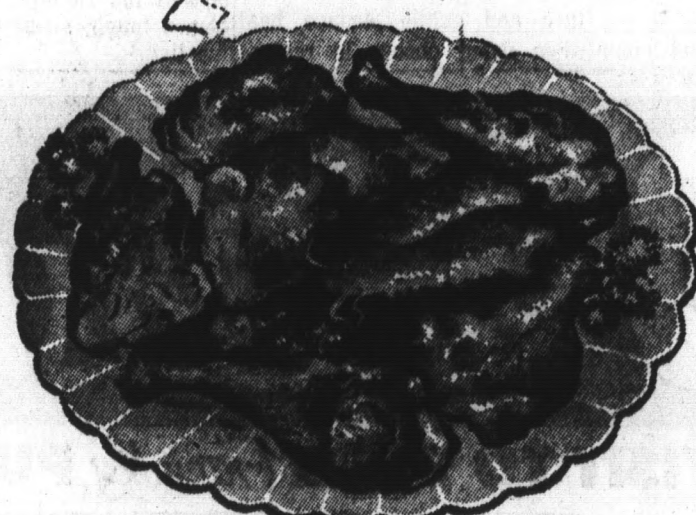

Don't Permit Bad Snacking

For the best in nutrition, snacking, which has become such an important part of the American eating pattern, should be "little meals between big meals" remind nutritionists for the Dairy Council of California. Making essential foods readily available will discourage bad snacking habits. For instance, choose from milk and other dairy foods (ice cream for those with a sweet tooth), fruit and vegetable juices

After the Play-offs, Try This Shrimp

After the hockey play-offs are over — no matter which team wins — the hostess using the most imagination in the food she serves is sure to get the highest score.

The losing team needs a real boost. The winning side desires exhilarating food to go along with their rising spirit. A smart woman plans her party food to meet the occasion.

For example, hefty glasses of a new and zippy, cold-as-a-blizzard, citrus flavored beverage is a cheery drink. Poured right from the icy bottle into frosted glasses refreshes the low in spirit or heightens the spirit of the conqueror. It has less than 2 calories per serving, too. To the glass add a sprig of mint, a whole cherry or wedge of pineapple if you desire — for added frill.

To go along with the ever-so-tasty-cold, cold drink, guests will really go for unusual marinated shrimp and dunking sauce. The marinade uses as the base the same zesty beverage and some of the marinade then goes into the dunking sauce. Who says it doesn't pay to accentuate the positive — especially when you know you're positively right!

Serve the shrimp with rounds of buttered toast, olives, pickles and carrot curls. You can't lose — no matter who wins the game.

For another time you might like to serve the shrimp in an avocado mold. Here again the citrus flavored beverage is used as the liquid in the mold enhancing and complementing the flavorful shrimp.

MARINATED SHRIMP
1½ to 2 pounds whole peeled and deveined shrimp
2 10-ounce bottles low-calorie citrus-flavored beverage
½ teaspoon powdered cloves
2 cloves garlic
2 teaspoons soy sauce
1½ tablespoons Worcestershire

PARMESAN OMELET
4 large eggs
¼ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon butter

Beat eggs until thick and ivory color; add milk and salt and beat to combine. Lightly beat in cheese. In thick-bottom 10-inch skillet with ovenproof handle, melt the butter so it coats pan. Add egg mixture; cook slowly until puffy and bottom is slightly browned — 5 minutes or longer. Bake in 325-degree oven until knife inserted in center comes out clean — 5 minutes or longer. Cut in wedges and serve at once. Makes 4 small servings.

DUNKING SAUCE

Combine cheese, chili sauce and mayonnaise, blend to smooth. Beat in enough marinade to be made of dunking consistency.

Early Settler Liked Oyster, Still Favorite

Oysters were a favorite dish of early American settlers who are reported to have learned about the delicacy by watching Indians eating roasted oysters.

Oysters are still a favorite dish of many persons in the U.S., says the Department of the Interior's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

Oysters are found along this country's coastline from Massachusetts to Texas and from Washington to Mexico.

"They should be included in meal planning because of their flavor and nutritional value," said H. E. Crowther, acting director of the bureau. He emphasized that oysters are an excellent source of protein, minerals, and vitamins.

Oysters can be served raw on the half shell or in stews or chowders. They may be baked, broiled, fried, creamed, or scalloped.

"The idea that oysters should be eaten only in months containing the letter 'R' is simply not true," Crowther said. "Actually these succulent mollusks are at their best in May and June on the Atlantic Coast, even though some states prohibit their harvest from public grounds during spring and summer."

The following oyster stew recipe has been developed by Bureau of Commercial Fisheries' home economists:

OYSTER STEW
1 pint oysters
4 tablespoons butter
1 quart milk
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Paprika
Melt butter, add drained oysters and cook 3 minutes or until edges curl. Add milk, salt, and pepper, and bring almost to boiling point. Serve at once. Garnish with paprika. Serves six.

Further suggestions on the selection and preparation of oysters can be obtained by writing for the recipe booklet, "How to Cook Oysters." It is available for 20 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Springlike Cake For A Girl's Party

Entertain your family and friends this spring with a delectable "Flower Basket Cake" blooming with roses created from gum drops. This cake is a perfect climax to a little girl's birthday party... a spring luncheon or tea... or a festive dinner.

The decorated cake is filled with a heavenly rich egg and whipped cream custard. The handle is made of cookie dough and the "basket" effect is achieved with chopped nuts. Home economists suggest using a butter, sponge or angel food cake as the base for this unusual dessert.

Flower Basket Cake
9-inch cake, butter, sponge, chiffon or angel food

Filling
2 1/2 cups milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons flour
3 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Scald milk. Beat sugar, flour and eggs together over hot water until light. Slowly add milk. Stir until mixture reaches boiling point. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Stir until mixture cools. When custard is cool, fold in whipped cream. Pile into center of basket cake.

COOKIE HANDLE
(Makes 2)

1/4 cup butter
1-3 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tablespoon milk
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups flour
Cream butter, sugar and egg until light and fluffy. Add milk, extract, salt. Beat well. Slowly add flour. Cut dough into two pieces and form each into long rope, about 18 inches long. Form into handle. Mark dough as if it were a handle. Bake at 350 degrees until lightly browned.

To Assemble Basket Cake
Remove center of cake leaving about 2-inches on bottom and 1 1/2 to 2-inches around rim. Spread sides and top with simple confectioners' icing. Sprinkle with chopped nuts or shredded coconut. Insert handle into sides of cake. Fill with custard cream. Top with gum drop roses made by rolling large gum drops flat and thin in sugar, to prevent sticking. Shape into roses. Cut leaves from Green gum drops rolled thin.

SKILLET BEANS AND CHOPS
4 Pork chops (about 1 pound)
4 slices onion
Salt and pepper

1 can (1 pound) pork and beans with tomato sauce
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

Brown pork chops well on both sides in heavy skillet. Top each with sliced onion; season with salt and pepper. Cover and cook about 20 minutes or until chops are tender. Push chops to one side; add beans, brown sugar, and pimiento. Cover and heat about 15 minutes over low heat. Makes four servings.

QUICK TIPS
x-Spread slices of pound or sponge cake with raspberry jam. Top with canned sliced peaches.

xx-Shred cabbage; rinse but do not shake dry. Place in heavy skillet and add a sprinkle of celery seed and half tart apple, diced; cover tightly. Cook over moderate heat, shaking pan often, for about eight to ten minutes. Butter and season before serving.

xxx-Split white or yellow layer cake and brush with a little rum or brandy flavoring. Spread instant coffee flavored whipped topping or cream between and on top layer. Serve in wedges.

With versatile, super flavored Western beef there's no excuse for serving the same old thing. An unusual spice, a slightly different cooking method or perhaps a new shape turn old favorite cuts — the ones you rely on to keep your family in good shape and the budget, too — into exciting, different dishes.

A new version of Swiss steak is surprisingly flavored with mixed pickling spice. Start with handsomely browned bottom round and onions. Long simmering in the spicy wine and tomato sauce yields fork-tender, marvelous beef. At serving time, smother the steak with the thickened gravy.

Even classic boiled beef shows up with new flair when it's simmered in water spiced with whole peppercorns, onion, cloves and bay. Inexpensive beef brisket is the juicy, flavorful cut in this case. Combine prepared horseradish with

1/2 to 1 teaspoon curry powder

1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1/4 cup toasted slivered almonds
Dust chicken with seasoned flour. Brown chicken in shortening. Combine remaining ingredients except almonds; pour over chicken. Cover. Cook over low heat 40 minutes or until chicken is tender. Stir often. (Add a little more water if necessary.) Add almonds. Cover. Cook 5 minutes more. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Quick Tips
x-Broil or fry fish sticks, arrange on toasted frankfurter rolls. Wrap in foil and bake to heat through. Serve with 1 can hot undiluted tomato soup mixed with 1 tablespoon pickle relish as sauce.

xx-Finely chop green pepper; press dry on paper towel. Mix with seasoned pepper and melted butter or margarine. Add to hot rice and toss.

xxx-Thin marmalade with a little hot water, then spoon into big custard cups—3 tablespoons to a cup. Add white or yellow cake mix prepared as directed on box. Cover each cup with a piece of foil and bake as for cake. Turn out and serve hot with extra marmalade as sauce.

Pour sugar syrup, a little at a time, into melted chocolate, stirring continually until icing is smooth. Use immediately.

bread crumbs and whipped cream for a saucy accompaniment.

Wonderfully stretchable and popular ground beef looks and tastes brand new in little pastry turnovers. For the tasty filling, combine browned beef and green pepper with soy sauce, sugar and catsup. The pastry cases are easily made from biscuit mix. Just fold into triangles around the good beef and they're ready for a short bake in the oven.

SMOTHERED STEAK WITH ONIONS
Cut the steak into serving pieces before simmering in spicy tomato and wine sauce.

2 pounds thick bottom round steak
Seasoned flour
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons cooking oil
6 sliced onions

3/4 cup red dinner wine
2 tablespoons tomato paste
1/2 teaspoon whole mixed pickling spice

Cut steak into 6 pieces and coat with seasoned flour. Brown on both sides in butter and oil.

Add onions and brown lightly. Add wine, tomato paste and pickling spice tied in cheesecloth. Cover and simmer very slowly 2 to 2 1/2 hours until beef is tender, adding a little water if needed. Remove spice bag. If desired, thicken gravy with a little cornstarch mixed with cold water. Makes 6 servings.

Western Beef Brisket With Horseradish Sauce
A long, lazy cooking time is well worth the effort for marvellously tender, juicy beef.

4 1/2 pounds lean beef brisket
1 quart water
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon peppercorns
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
6 whole cloves
Bit of bay leaf
1/2 teaspoon liquid red pepper seasoning

Place beef brisket in large kettle and add all remaining ingredients. Cover and cook very slowly 3 to 4 hours, until beef is tender. Serve with horseradish sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Note: If beef is to be served cold, cool in cooking liquid.

Horseradish Sauce: Combine 1/2-cup fine soft white bread crumbs, 1-3-cup milk, 1/4-teaspoon salt and 1-teaspoon instant minced onion and let stand a few minutes. Add 3 tablespoons drained prepared horseradish and dash cayenne pepper. Whip 1/2-cup whipping cream until stiff, and fold into horseradish sauce.

GROUND BEEF TURNOVERS
Soy sauce, sugar and catsup add interesting flavor to the ground beef filling.

Combine all ingredients except cracker crumbs. Spoon into a buttered 12x7 1/2x2-inch baking pan. Sprinkle cracker crumbs over top. Bake at 350 degrees for about 40 minutes or until firm in center. Cut into squares.

Airlines' Chef Introduces Travelers to Specialties of Foreign Nations

The head chef of an international airline's flight kitchen, more than the kitchen master of any size hotel, must be prepared to cater to the tastes of many peoples around the world. The daily menu he must prepare, after all, will be served to passengers whose tastes embrace a range of cuisine from Thailand's Ma Praw San-Kaya, for example, over Chateaubriand to American Southern Fried Chicken.

Yet, what better opportunity to introduce a visitor to a foreign country's specialties than when he is captured in the mood of anticipation, en route to an exciting adventure among his hitherto unknown fellow-men.

Chef Edmund Dittler, winner of 104 gold medals, member of the Confrerie de la Chaine des Rotisseurs and maitre supreme de cuisine of Lufthansa German Airlines' huge kitchen in Frankfurt, has recognized this unique opportunity. Besides preparing such specialties as kosher food for orthodox Jewish travelers, or meals excluding all pork meat for Mohammedans, a preponderance of rice on Far East routes, Dittler has devised a number of menus featuring favorite German specialties.

On occasion, the airline will go out of its way preparing a special surprise for a special flight and Dittler whips up the answer. This occurred, for example, when a number of German engineers, returning from an assignment in India, were treated to a juicy menu of pig's knuckles, sauerkraut and dumplings.

Although this may be one of the best-known German dishes, it is a mistaken notion to believe that German gourmets consider it their most favorite delicacy. German cuisine is rich with the country's many extraordinary recipes and the German airline most certainly includes a number of them in its tempting flight menus.

A typical menu might look like this:

Hors D'Oeuvres
Beluga Malossol Caviar.
Chickenbreast on pineapple

and lettuce.
Fillet of Matjes herring "Me-nagere."
Truffled gooseliver in Madeira aspic.
Heligoland lobster with artichokes.
Toast and butter.
Soup and Main Course
Soup a la "Allgaeu" or Vegetable Soup

"Vierlaender" broiled duck and buttered potatoes.
"Filetspiesschen" with tomato rice.
Fine herb salad.
Desserts
Cheese "Crepes."
Crepes stuffed with orange sections.
Turkish Mokka.

White and red wines and German beers are served with the meal which is preceded by a choice of cocktails or champagne.

In analyzing the menu, one finds some strange items included. They are some of the typically German dishes and — picking a few at random — we describe some of their ingredients and preparation here.

Among the hors d'oeuvres, only two delicacies are of typically German character, but both are sufficiently well known. One is the Matjes Herring, a very juicy fillet of Baltic Sea or North Sea herring soaked in a heavily salted and spiced sauce; the other is the Heligoland lobster, a smaller variety than usually found in the waters surrounding the United States, caught in the North Sea near the tiny vacation island Heligoland, the red-rock island right off the Frisian coast.

Starting with the soups on the main course, the first stranger enters the picture: Sou a la "Allgaeu." The Allgaeu is the famous Alpine region of upper Bavaria, a fertile countryside where the brown and white-checked herds of cattle are as much an integral part of the picture as are the buffalo of the American Midwest. Every summer, the green pasture of the slopes and mountain meadows, the "Alman," are inhabited by the "Senner" and "Sennerin," the cowboy and cowgirl of Bavaria in their colorful, native costumes.

They came up with this soup recipe: Several thin slices of breadstick are arranged in a soup cup, alternately with Swiss and Parmesan cheese. This is topped by the yolk of an egg and the cup is then filled with hot, clear broth of chicken or goose.

"Hirtensuppe" also derived its name from German shepherds who used their idle time in perfecting the recipe for this soup.

Fourteen ounces of lean beef cut into small cubes are slightly browned together with a large, sliced onion. Spices are added in precise quantities, 4 grams of fine salt, 2 grams of caraway seeds, one-half small, crushed garlic and a pinch of paprika. Then 15 grams of flour and some vinegar are needed for basting. About 1½ pints of consommé are then added, brought to a simmer and 50 minutes later two medium-sized potatoes, cut into small cubes, are added. Again, all must simmer lightly another 1½ hours. The "Hirtensuppe" is served with toasted bread cubes, prepared in butter.

Edmund Dittler has picked delicacies from many of Germany's local regions. The variations in local customs, speech and traditions are of course, reflected in the cuisine, as is the case in most nations around the world. Interesting not only to the foreign visitors but often to the native from another region, however, is the proximity within which contrasts in cuisine are apparent. A recipe considered a specialty for the Sunday dinner table at one city may be wholly unknown in a village only miles down the road.

Well, "Vierlaender Mastente im Topf," selected for Lufthansa's passengers, is best known in the northern area of Germany. "Vierlaender" is a small, fruit-growing peninsula in the Elbe River just opposite from the city of Hamburg. On the many small farms in northern Germany, ducks are essential members of the animal community and many ingenious suggestions for their preparation have been devised.

In "Vierlaender" chefs came up with this recipe: Three fresh peppers — one green, one yellow and one red — and a large onion are cut into round slices. To this are added some cucumbers, two peeled tomatoes and a little garlic.

These vegetables are slowly sautéed in olive oil and spiced with salt, paprika and a pinch of sugar.

Meantime, a duck is broiled until about golden-yellow, then neatly carved and the pieces mixed with the soft-braised vegetables. The mixture is then placed in a casserole, for a few minutes roasted and then served piping hot. Buttered potatoes, garnished with parsley, are served with the dish.

The most difficult problem to be solved by an airline's chef is how to serve a fresh meal over the middle of the Atlantic when it has been prepared some hours earlier.

Lufthansa's cooks jointly contributed to a solution some years ago, developing a new deep-freeze procedure whereby a meal is fully prepared, distributed on a serving tray, covered by aluminum foil and then frozen to temperatures lower than 100 below zero. Heated to normal serving temperature during the flight, the meal tastes as fresh as if just cooked. A procedures — not as refined, but similar — became popular in America some years later.

Senator service includes wine with all meals. The airline's wine cellars are restocked each year with the most select wines from the Rhine and Moselle. Some of the wines served include Piesporter Michelsberg (Moselle) from the vineyards of Langenbach, Inc.; Ruedesheimer Haeuserweg, a late harvest from the vineyard of Louis Guntram (Rhine).

Others are the famous Bernkastler Schlossberg, and Oppenheimer Schuetzenhuetten.

Among the wholesome German beers, sometimes preferred by passengers, are St. Pauli of Hamburg, the world-famous Loewenbrau of Bavaria and Beck's Beer of Bremen, also Koenig Pils of Duesseldorf.

Red wines and champagne are also offered.

Edmund Dittler's job entails a multitude of responsibilities. Beyond the routine matters — supervision of planning, schedules, quality standards and so on — he not only has to maintain variety in meals and beverages, but he must also be aware of the opportunity to introduce his airline's guests to the lullabian habits of Germany.

As Dittler himself puts it: "I think the way to a visitor's heart is through his taste buds." He certainly works at it. So far, the Lufthansa kitchens have reaped 13 gold medals at the International Gastronomy Exposition in Munich.

Try Foreign Flair With Pineapple

A bit of foreign flair and canned pineapple turn those good little everyday casseroles into dramatic party fare. Versatile canned pineapple is one fruit that goes well in all sorts of entrees. With meat, fish and poultry its light and bright qualities are a nice contrast — more refreshing than sweet.

A bubbling beef ball casserole has a base of rosy pineapple rice plus a dash of Mediterranean inheritance to give it appealing good looks. Start by steaming rice with water and pineapple syrup until it's dry and fluffy. Then add pineapple chunks, tomatoes, a pinch of dill and sautéed beef balls. This entree fits beautifully into informal party planning because it's basic enough to appeal to everyone, yet its special pineapple flavor sets it apart.

Luscious pineapple tidbits add color and flavor to English shepherd's pie. Pile vegetables, Cheddar cheese, tuna and pineapple into a decorative baking dish, then pipe on potato topping around the edges in fluffy swirls. A wonderful quick supper idea that's pretty enough for company.

Tender lamb and canned pineapple combine in a savory little dish the French call provincial. Flavor the meat with rosemary, seasoned salt and coffee powder while it simmers in wine and vinegar. Golden pineapple chunks and green peas go in just before serving time.

SHEPHERD'S PINEAPPLE TUNA BAKE

Accompaniments of old country style brown bread and tossed greens complete this supper menu.

1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons butter
1 (10-ounce) package frozen peas
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 (6½- or 7-ounce) can tuna
1 (13½-ounce) can pineapple tidbits
2 cups grated Cheddar cheese
Potato topping

Cook onion and celery in butter until soft and lightly browned. Pour boiling water over peas; drain. Mix peas and all remaining ingredients, except potato topping, with celery and onion. Turn into six-cup shallow baking dish piling mixture higher in center. Pipe or spoon potato topping around edges of dish. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes six servings.

POTATO TOPPING: Prepare 2 cups (4 servings) instant mashed potatoes as package directs; whip until fluffy. Stir in 1 lightly beaten egg yolk.

MEDITERRANEAN PINEAPPLE BEEF BUFFET

To fit a busy schedule, assemble ahead of time, then simply add a few extra minutes in the oven to be sure it heats through.

1 (13½-ounce) can pineapple chunks
Water
1 cup rice
1½ teaspoons salt
1 (1-pound) can stewed tomatoes
¼ teaspoon dill weed
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Beef balls

To syrup drained from pineapple, add enough water to make 1½ cups. Add rice and 1 teaspoon salt; bring to boil then cover and simmer over very low heat about 15 minutes until dry and fluffy. Add drained pineapple, remaining ¼ teaspoon salt and all remaining ingredients including beef balls. Toss to mix well. Place in 8-cup baking dish. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 25 minutes or until heated through. Makes 6 servings.

BEEF BALLS: Combine 1 pound ground lean beef, 1 lightly beaten egg, 1 cup fine soft bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon instant minced onion, ¼ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 1-3 cup milk. Shape into 1-inch balls. Brown on all sides in 1 tablespoon oil in skillet.

PINEAPPLE LAMB PROVINCIAL

While this entree simmers unhurriedly on top of the range, bake a casserole of rice or noodles as a go-along.

2 pounds boneless lamb stew
¼ teaspoon rosemary or dill weed
1½ teaspoons seasoned salt
½ teaspoon instant coffee
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1 (13½-ounce) can pineapple chunks
3 tablespoons wine vinegar
½ cup white dinner wine or bouillon
1 cup cooked peas

Trim fat from lamb. Season with rosemary, seasoned salt and instant coffee. Brown well in hot oil in large skillet; discard fat. Add syrup drained from pineapple, vinegar and wine to meat. Cover and simmer 1 hour and 15 minutes until meat is tender. Add pineapple chunks and peas. Heat a few minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

Dressings To Top Salads

Ripe juicy fresh Western pears, cored and topped with dressing, make the easiest salads ever.

Choose mayonnaise blended with avocado, cottage cheese, capers, or finely chopped watercress. Or, for a dessert-type salad blend mayonnaise with miniature marshmallows and whipped cream.

Honey French dressing is a favorite for fresh pears, as are the French dressings with celery seeds, poppy seeds or toasted sesame seeds.

Sour cream with a blending of mint or cranberry jelly or frozen fruit uice concentrate makes a lively dressing for fresh pear salad.

Add Cheese To Waldorf

Add crumbled blue cheese to a creamy salad dressing and toss lightly with cubed fresh Anjou pears, sliced celery and chopped walnuts. Serve in crisp lettuce cups.

THE LARGEST AND FINEST GIFT SELECTION IN THE BAY AREA

Agriculture Extension Flower Man

A professional floriculturist, Raymond F. Hasek, has been appointed to the staff of the Agricultural Extension Service, and will be stationed on the University of California Davis campus, according to Dr. George B. Alcorn, director of the statewide Extension Service.

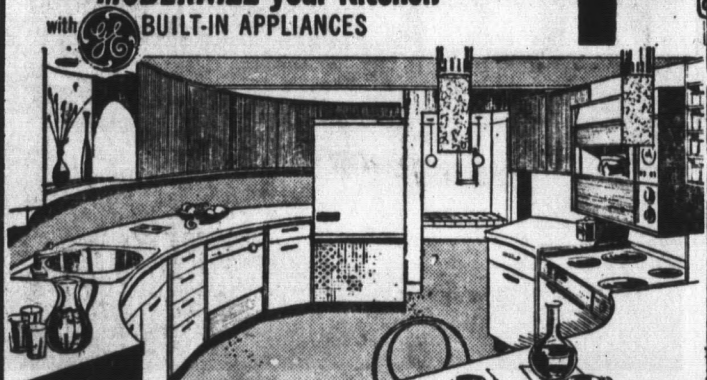

Hasek, 49, has had extensive commercial and research experience, Alcorn reports. The new Extension floriculturist will work with the commercial green house and nursery industry through the county farm advisors.

Hasek operated his own soil testing laboratory and consulting service in Fremont for 10 years and then worked for a commercial nursery in the Mount Eden-Hayward area, coordinating rose production for the past six years.

Flood Project Fund OK'd

A $75,000 allocation to get engineering work started on the San Bruno Creek flood control project was approved recently by the County Board of Supervisors.

The money is to be repaid out of a bond issue to be proposed by San Bruno. City officials, who asked for the advance from the county, said the city will repay the county in the event the bonds should not be approved by the voters.

The major construction features will be improvements to the Belle Air canal and a channel skirting International Airport.

Jeff Eying Land Parcel

The Jefferson Elementary School District is considering the purchase of a ten-acre parcel of land on the west side of Skyline Boulevard for a future school site.

Assistant Superintendent Roger Barthuli, the district engineer, and a soils engineering consultant presented a preliminary report on suitability of the site to trustees.

The land, adjacent to Skyline Boulevard above Thornton Beach, is presently owned by the Division of Highways, and was formerly intended to be the location of a freeway interchange system.

The state abandoned plans for the freeway several years ago, and the ten-acre parcel is now the only unimproved land suitable for a school site on the west side of Skyline, Barthuli said.

District engineers said the land is suitable for development "at reasonable cost," and the soils engineer reported it is "as safe from earthquakes as any other site in the Bay Area."

Barthuli and Board Chairman George Perry said the district will eventually have to build another school to serve the 2,100 homes on the west side of Skyline, "or be faced with the prospect of perpetual busing of these children."

Trustees instructed Barthuli to prepare a complete study of the site.

Jeff Conveys School Land To the State

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees adopted a resolution of intention to convey a small parcel of land on the Christopher Columbus School grounds to the State Division of Highways last week.

The board set a public hearing on the land transfer, which involves a small strip adjacent to Skyline Boulevard, after a lengthy debate over the price offered by the highway department.

Trustee Peter Goliano recommended that the board consider the feasibility of obtaining appraisals on the property in view of the fact the highway department arrived at its evaluation over three years ago.

The state is offering $2,934 for the narrow strip, based on a $12,000 per acre evaluation of undeveloped land in the area.

Board Chairman George Perry said he felt it would be unwise to have the property appraised "unless there is a likelihood of gaining a significant increase in the evaluation."

JESD, Ryan Report

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees recently ordered a "clarification" of a letter from Superintendent Frank Greenwood to Senator Richard Dolwig and Assemblyman Leo Ryan concerning the board's position on compensation for trustees conducting school business.

The board instructed Associate Superintendent Vinton Stratton to inform the legislators the board desires only per diem reimbursement for expenses while attending conventions or other school business, and not "other compensation for personal losses incurred while away from their respective jobs" as Greenwood indicated in a letter March 16.

Trustee Peter Galiano said the superintendent "misinterpreted my position" in his original letter, ordered by the board at the last meeting.

"I personally do not subscribe to the philosophy of this letter in regard to the reimbursement of trustees, and I do not want our legislators left with the opinion that I do," Galiano said.

"The motion we adopted on this matter mentioned only the per diem rate," he said.

Greenwood's letter referred to losses incurred through "penalties invoked by employers, such as loss of sick leave time and utilization of vacation time to conduct school business."
